INFINITY

The Company

The Infinity Waters complex at West Lakes, 13kms west of Adelaide's CBD and close to the shores of St Vincent's Gulf, was developed by The Sam Sgherza Group, prominent Adelaide developers and winners of the 2007 HIA House of the Year.

The Development

INFINITY Waters is a premium development of 7 stories of exclusive apartments, with ground floor restaurants and retail shops and parking underneath the building. It is located on the water at West Lakes and across the road from a major retail shopping centre. It is also within walking distance of Footy Park, the home of AFL's Adelaide Crows.

As befits the location, the luxury apartments have been built to the highest standards with premium finishes, and the best security features with integrated intercoms and alarms. The developers were looking for a keyless style entry system for both apartments and retail stores. The system needed to operate with the Intercom entry system as well as the apartment home automation system. Prox keys or cards were not deemed to be secure enough nor in keeping with the quality of the development. The entry system needed to be both rust and weather resistant given its proximity to the waterfront and nearby beaches.

The Solution

The developer commissioned Gunnebo, the international security group to select and install the access devices. Gunnebo chose the BioLock due to its SCEC endorsement, IP65 rating, all metal construction and toughened ceramic coated glass sensor.

The BioLock interfaced easily with all the electric doorstrikes used throughout the development, and connected as easily to the home automation system used in each apartment.

The Benefits

- seamless integration with the other building technologies used in this development
- BioLock SCEC endorsement provided peace of mind to the developers and the apartment owners
- the design was homogenous with the look and feel of the development, and was used as a selling differentiator by the developers

Paul Stokes, Gunnebo said

"BioLock is a good fit for Gunnebo solutions as it's in keeping with our quality criteria, SCEC high security endorsement, flexibility and versatility."

"It was the perfect solution for Infinity Waters".
